KATHINA

According to the Buddha's teaching, offering Katina means accumulating much merit which causes to prevent the bad destination of the doer, make happy, peace in the mind within this very life, heavenly status in the samsaric journey and fetching the final emancipation.

Katina is the most important festival for Buddhist people which comes in the end of Vassana season, the three months rainy retreat. During this month a monastery holds a katina festival can be considered as the culmination of all meritorious activities that started since the beginning of Vas observation.
